

Chitwan National Park safari, Nepal

Nepal - Extension Options

Why not extend your adventure in Nepal with a visit to Nepal's lowland Terai region for a complete contrast to the high mountains and the Kathmandu Valley. Chitwan is home to a rich diversity of wildlife with elephant, rhinos, leopard, sambar, spotted deer, wild boar and Royal Bengal Tiger all being found in the park along with sloth bear, gaur (wild cattle) and crocodiles. Chitwan is also a wonderful place for birdwatching especially in the spring when the park rings to the calls of several kinds of cuckoo.

We have selected a range of accommodation options that are located in quiet locations and which we believe offer a comfortable stay and an authentic wildlife experience. During your stay you will have the opportunity to go on nature walks to look for animals and birds and to learn about the plants and trees of area. You may also explore by open topped Landrover, have an elephant experience, such walking with elephants or washing them, take a canoe trip on the river or visit the local Tharu people in their rustic villages. There will also be time to relax with a book or a cold drink in the middle of the day when most animals and birds are sheltering from the heat of the sun, and a slide show may be arranged for the evening.
